Truist Foundation application FAQ

Where can I find information about the types of grants and areas of interest that the Truist Foundation supports?

- The Truist Foundation supports our communities by investing in innovative nonprofits that align with our key areas of focus: building career pathways to economic mobility and strengthening small businesses. Learn more on our website here.

What if my organization fits in both focus areas? Can I apply to both?

- Although we understand that nonprofits have multiple needs, we'd like all applicants to choose one focus area that's the best fit.

How do I apply for funding for a project that does not fit under building career pathways to economic mobility or strengthening small businesses?

- Truist also invests in other areas such as thriving communities, education and disaster relief and recovery, but please note these grant requests are only reviewed if they were submitted with an invitation code.

What's the average grant size?

- We don't have a set amount or average grant size. The minimum grant is $5,000. Grant amounts are based on the strength of the program and how many people it impacts as well as how it aligns with our pillars and mission. We like to build our giving amounts as we build a relationship with the grantee.

When will I learn the status of my request?

- If you submitted your application by the posted deadline, you'll receive an email notification of the decision approximately four months after the deadline. Thank you for your patience as we work through the internal review and meeting process.

How often can my organization apply for a grant?

- Generally, we require grantees to wait at least three years between their grant award and the next request. We do this because the Truist Foundation doesn't make multiyear grants, nor do we support annual grants. This policy allows us to provide grantees with all funding at the time of the award to support longer-term needs. Of course, we can't grant all requests. If your organization doesn't receive a grant, there's no waiting period to apply again.

Does Truist Foundation allow for a fiscal agent or fiscal sponsor to apply for a grant on behalf of an organization that meets either the Building Career Pathways to Economic Mobility or Strengthening Small Businesses pillar?

- We do accept applications from fiscal agents and fiscal sponsors for programs that meet the Building Career Pathways to Economic Mobility or Strengthening Small Businesses pillar. If the grant application is approved, the fiscal agent or fiscal sponsor will be required to submit a final report* on behalf of the organization receiving the funding approximately one year after the approval.

*Please refer to the Monitoring, Evaluation and Learning (MEL) reporting requirements on the Welcome page of the application.
